“ My heart is aching as I type this. If only there was a rewind button. My prayers are with Emily and those sweet babies. Each one a beautiful reminder. I wish I had been able to visit at least once before you left, Byron. I'm sorry that never happened. I prayed for your victory. I thank God it came. I just wish there had been a way that you could have still stayed. The Faith and Hope we have tells me that we will see you again. I know this is just a 'blip' in the thing we call life. God needed you with Him sooner than expected. I just wish I had gotten to tell you something. You were a great friend! In more ways than you'll ever know. You are the reason I never quit school. I went back and graduated because you took the time one evening to call me and apologize. Apologize for something you hadn't even done! But you did, because that's the kind of heart you had. A good one! Your call made me sit back and rethink my choice. I never thanked you for that! I'm sorry! So, thank you, Byron! Thank you for being a great example for others, a wonderful father to those beautiful children, a loving husband to Emily (I could see how much you cared for her just by how you sat with her in church), and all out great person to be around. “ The good times and laughs are too numerous to count growing up with Byron. Something as simple and serious as a "hello" from him would get me laughing because I knew it would be followed up with a "smart" remark, an off-the-wall comment or a quick joke. I always admired his dedication and hard work regardless of how small the task- a testament to the great man he is. Emily and kids I pray you have peace and strength.

“ Byron, you were the best brother in law we could have ever asked for. You brought light and laughter to our family gatherings with your optimistic personality and your quick jokes. Tho we will miss being able to spend more time with you, we can't help but be thankful for the little while we had you with us and I will always be thankful for how happy you made my sister and for the six wonderful little children you gave us who are a constant reminder of you.

“ Em, I have no words to take the hurt away. I have so many memories of humorous things Byron said and did! He joyfully lived life to it's fullest! He would never even have to say it--but his actions proved how much he loved you and each one of your precious children. There will be such a void now. I know Shawn and I will have a hard time ever parting with the "big blue van" (an auction special that Byron made road worthy for our family). My children won't forget the couple of times he taught them Sunday school! I will miss his Testimonies and prayers. The God that he loved and served will help comfort and take you through this time. He was such a wonderful example! We love you and the kids so much!

Love from you big sister

“ Byron was a very special person. One of my fondest memories is when he and Bernard sang a hymn together at our house. They really sang well together. He will be missed.
