“ So sad to hear of aunt jean's passing. She was such an amazing woman. Have fond memories when I was very young and we visited in Wexford. And then again when she lived in Lancaster. I loved writing letters to her and have kept so many of those ones she sent to me. I am thankful for all of the information that she shared about the MacIntyre family tree. I am so proud and honored to been given her name as my middle name. My love to all the cousins.

“ I have so many fond memories of my Aunt Jean that I don't know which to choose. She's been special to me for so long. One that comes back from the times I'd visit the family while I was in basic training at Ft. Dix in New Jersey is Uncle Ralph and Aunt Jean dancing so gracefully together at a "social" in their Methodist church. I remember so many conversations about books or Scotland or Wales or family members, At a Thanksgiving dinner, Jean asked me why Catholic countries in Europe seemed more free to enjoy life than Protestant countries, to which I replied, "It's called the Protestant Reformation." Theresa, raised Catholic, was listening, and said something like "we're just more fun." I could go on and on. I'll miss Jean very much. She was sort of a touchstone for me--an anchor. I feel a little less "moored" without her.
