

Joseph M. Dugan

September 20, 1943 - September 20, 2015

Joseph M. Dugan, 72, of New Providence passed away suddenly at home Sunday morning, September 20, 2015. Born in Reading on October 29, 1942, Joe was the son of the late Michael Dugan and Sophie Tacyn Kube. Joe was the husband of Virginia "Ginny" C. Haugen Dugan with who he married on December 12, 1992.

Joe graduated from Reading Central Catholic High School and attended LaSalle University. He had worked for PP&L for 36 years as an equipment operator and underground lineman before retiring. Joe enjoyed traveling and vintage cars and often attended Vintage Grand Prix. As a man that lived on 10 wooded acres in a cabin, Joe loved nature, wildlife, watching birds and "watching tree bark stretch". He was an advocate for Human Rights and Animal Rights.

Joe has chosen to be cremated and not to take space in the ground. He wanted to be remembered as the Joey he was, full of life. a tenacious learner, a father, husband, and friend. Please remember Joe as he was, and love and cherish your friends and loved ones because you will never know when they will cross over. He is now a spirit in the winds.

Joe is survived by his wife Ginny of New Providence and his daughter, Stasey A., wife of Paul Dewalt and grandchildren, Alexander Joseph and Leah Anne Dewalt, all of Cumru Twp., Berks County. His step brother Paul Kube of Willow Street and step sister, Sallie, wife of Bill Fisher of Williamson, NY also survive him.
