“ Offering my deepest sympathy to the Heckard Family at this time of sorrow and loss. Celebrate a long life well lived sharing the gift of music! The seemingly countless number of students whose musical abilities were developed and refined by Mrs. Heckard over the decades is a lasting tribute to a woman whose passion for education could not be surpassed. Blessings to all.

“ I am so sorry for our loss. Mrs. Heckard was one of a kind. I sang in her choir at Lebanon High School, was in a musical, and went to Europe with the PA Ambassadors of Music with her as a chaperone. I will always know how to sing properly thanks to her- even now, I make sure I breathe and sing the way she taught me! I will always be thankful to her for treaching all of us the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's Messiah- I have it memorized and I love singing it! She was one of the best teachers and mentors I have had in my life and I am very glad I had the chance to be one of her students. Heaven has a new choir director.....and you know she will do it right!

“ There is a poem or two , by Mary Oliver, and they 'belong' to Mrs. Heckard. I kept thinking of you last week and did not call :(I hope you hear my gratitude in these- and make them into your own heavenly music: The Turtle breaks from the blue-black skin of the water, dragging her shell with its mossy scutes across the shallows and through the rushes

and over the mudflats, to the uprise, to the yellow sand,
to dig with her ungainly feet a nest, and hunker there spewing her white eggs down into the darkness, and you think of her patience, her fortitude, her determination to complete what she was born to do~ and then you realize a greater thing~ she doesn't consider

what she was born to do.
She's only filled
with an old blind wish.
It isn't even hers but came to her in the rain or the soft wind, which is a gate through which her life keeps walking.

She can't see herself apart from the rest of the world or the world from what she must do every spring.
Crawling up the high hill, luminous under the sand that has packed against her skin.

*she doesn't dream
she knows she is a part of the pond she lives in,
AND from When Death Comes
When it's over, I want to say: all my life I was a bride married to amazement.
I was a bridegroom, taking the world into my arms.
When it's over, I don't want to wonder if I have made of my life something particular, and real.
I don't want to find myself singing and frightened,
or full of argument .*

Thank you for being so real and a part of this world . I am grateful for the time when you also were such a big part of mine.

I don't want to end up simply having visited this world .

“ Words can not convey the sadness in hearing about the loss of such a tremendous influence on so many people's lives. Kate filled our lives with nuance and culture, while making us strive.. Not to be better... But "The Best" at everything we do. I loved her for everything she showed me and utilize her practices to this day. She will be deeply missed. So long... you Hot Mama, you!

“ To Scott, Barry and Dennis,

When I heard of your mother's passing I thought of the goods times we had at Henry Houck Jr. High. Your mother inspired me and many others to always try to do our best in any circumstance. She also was one of the reasons that I taught music for 35 years. I will never forget the wonderful times we had and how she helped me through the years, just to have her in my thoughts.

“ It is with deep regret and sincere sympathy I learned of the passing of Mrs. Heckard. Rare is the teacher who meets a stranger, takes them under her wing and changes their life. Kate saw things in me I didn't see in myself. She drew them out, sometimes kicking and screaming, until I realized my potential. She truly has helped shape my life and I am eternally grateful. While I haven't seen her in many years, I never discount what she has done for me and what I now pass on to my own children and their friends. Mrs. Heckard was one of a kind and I am positive she is directing a heavenly host of angels as I write. Bless you Mrs. Heckard for all you have done and all the lives you have changed.

“ Mrs. Heckard was the type of teacher the school district could surely use today. She had a strong personality on the exterior, but a soft kind heart on the inside. Her high school musical productions were equivalent to Broadway Shows. She will be missed.

“ Mrs. Heckard was my Music Teacher at what was then Henry Houck Jr. High. She was an extraordinary teacher who challenged us to be the best musicians we could be. Because of her I became a Music Teacher and spent 38 years teaching vocal and instrumental music to all age groups. She will not be forgotten.
