“ I was very close friends with both Joe Antrim and his parents when they lived on Cambridge Avenue in old Dayton, View; we traveled all over the mid-west dealing with antique car parts which was a part-time vocation when Joe was not up to his ears in work at Wright Paterson Air Force Base in Dayton.. I remember so well when Joe and Nancy got married. Joe was 53 at the time and had a mother who required all of his time. I was so thrilled that he married Nancy. I had read that Joe passed on but was not aware of any funeral or service for him. I was at both of his parents funerals in Dayton, Ohio's Woodland Cemetery. (NOTE, that there is still a grave that Joe owned next his mother and father. Joe's mother Dora was like a grandmother to me. I owe much to this remarkable family and the wonderful times we had with them. Please feel free to contact me anytime.
