“ As you leave this tumultuous world we live in, here's hoping you find peace. Patrick went from me training him at work, to being a coworker and finally someone I called a friend. My thoughts and prayers go out to his family, Krista and her little one who I know Patrick loved as his own. May God Bless us all in this time of hurt.

“ There is just too many great memories to share....the ones however that I will cherish the most will be ones that milestone our high school careers. From prom, to graduation, and after I will cherish the time I was able to be with you through those events. I am thankful that I was able to share them with someone as great as Patrick and that he was once my best friend. Times change, people change, life gets harder but memories are the way to keep someone in your heart forever. To his family and closest to him my thoughts and prayers are forever with you. So...heres to grilled cheese and bacon (which is only made to total satisfaction by your sweet Momma)-Ashley
